

Assessments

Services rendered by educational psychologists are covered by most medical aids. Medical Aids all pay different rates per hour but the average medical rate for an educational psychologist is approximately R900-R1200 per hour. Services are charged per hourly rate whether the service is for therapy, assessments or training. Assessments are usually done in two separate sessions of 2 hours each with an intake session, a follow up if needed and a feedback session. The amount of sessions depends on the reason for the assessment and the individual's attention span. The rates covered are dependent on your level of cover. Please check with your medical aid.

There are different types of assessments available and your investment depends upon the chosen package. You are welcome to text or email me should you have specific questions regarding the assessments, the combination of tests and/or the price. There are cash options available for clients that do not have medical aid.
